Re: Announcement on the ongoing work on the proceedings

Dear paper presenters and participants of the ICES20,

We are happy that now it becomes possible to give you an update, which certainly many of you were expecting. Due to the still ongoing internet blackout and the crisis, the work on the ICES20 Proceedings had been temporarily interrupted since the end of last year.

This is now to let everyone know that the editing and reviewing work on the Proceedings have resumed and also the ICES20 website will be updated step by step with the necessary announcements. Reviewing continues and authors of papers are being informed shortly about possible comments on their submitted papers, if there are any.

Please understand that due to the internet blackout normal email communication could not yet resume. However, we are utilizing various means to assure that the communication and editing will now go on, so that in due time the Proceedings will be published.

Best Regards,

ICES20 Organizing Committee Chairs
